

Band cathodes

- Own production and certification
- Cathode range available from stock
- Exchange assortment for parts from other manufacturers

The experts of pro-beam offer the following services:

- Own production and certification

We manufacture cathodes appropriate for your pro-beam plants in-house. The production is subject to strict quality specifications and is being documented. All cathodes are tested thoroughly before they are released for customer use.

- Cathode range available from stock

Most of our cathodes can be ordered from stock at any time. There are standardized shipment units according to your needs. Special quantities or specifications are manufactured as quickly as possible in an order-related manner. A fast delivery allows you to reduce your own stock to the minimum quantity.

- Exchange assortment for parts from other manufacturers

Our know-how is used for the continuous adjustment and extension of our product range. A marker for the exceptional quality of our cathodes is the fact that pro-beam cathodes have replaced cathodes in many electron beam welding plants of other manufacturers in a reliable and reasonably priced way. We will provide you with an up-to-date comparison at any time.

Benefit from our possibilities and reduce your running costs!
