

Service Contracts

- System support for the complete life cycle
- Assistance for your expert staff
- Minimizing of down times
- Secured availability of spare and wear parts

The experts of pro-beam offer the following services:

- Support for the complete life cycle of the system

Our commitment does not end with commissioning and acceptance, but includes the complete support for the entire service life of your system. Our service contract is a fundamental contribution to ensure this.

- Assistance for your expert staff

Our service contracts are structured modularly and especially adapted to your needs and possibilities. The range of services includes professional support for maintenance tasks, regular system checks and as well as complete service.

- Minimizing of down times

Well-maintained systems will break down less. Failures can be reduced considerably through jointly coordinated call and response times. Regular maintenance works can be scheduled according to your production flow.

- Effective control of running costs

By securing a defined system state you will be able to plan the processes and results of your production safely. The jointly defined and binding budget provides a safe basis for calculating your running costs.

- Secured availability of spare and wear parts

According to your requirements we keep a stock of spare and wear parts. Should something go wrong, contrary to expectations, we will provide you with these parts as quickly as possible.

Benefit from our possibilities and control your running costs!
